Iran

Living in exile after 6 years in prison

Ebrahim Firouzi

Ebrahim has been living in exile 1,000 miles from his home, as a form of continued punishment following his release from years in prison in November 2019 – all for his peaceful Christian activities. And in exile he is set to remain until October 2022, having had his two-year sentence extended by 11 months last year. Recently, new charges were brought against him. He was put back in detention for three weeks. He has been released, but charges have not been dropped. Would you pray for God's sustaining grace for Ebrahim?

"My prayer is that the authorities pursue true justice. The Iranian Church has never sought war with the government. We are believers in Jesus Christ the Lord and, according to the message of the Bible, we want to live a quiet and lawful life."
