Mina Khajavi

Sixty-year-old Christian convert, Mina Khajavi, is serving a six-year sentence for leading a house-church. Shortly before her detention, she was run over by a car and her ankle was badly broken. She was imprisoned when she was deemed to have sufficiently recovered, although she is still in pain and unable to access the medical care she requires. Mina has reportedly only been given occasional painkillers, and no other treatment.

Mina is currently in the process of applying for a retrial, but any verdict will take time. Pray for her release, and healing from the pain.
